JULY, 1980

Prize Day 1980

A view of the Prize Day ceremony

True to recent history the 91st Annual Prize Day opened bright, clear - and hot! The preliminary prize reading took place in both the Upper and Lower Schools where academic, athletic and social achievements were acknowledged. Here, in these more private ceremonies, the School recognized a host of individual and group triumphs touching almost every facet of Ridley life.

The presentation of major prizes and awards by Mr. Hector McL. Porter (48) governor of the School and his wife Ann was preceded by 'State of the School' addresses by Dr. D. C. McFarlane, Vice-President of the Board, the Rev. D. P. Hunt, Headmaster of the Lower School and Mr. R. A. Bradley, Headmaster of Ridley.

The Valedictorian, chosen by his peers, was Malcolm J. Ainslie, who congratulated the Graduating Class for their successes in many areas, not the least of which was managing to pass the year. The Graduating Class was then presented individually by the Valedictorian.

Perhaps the greatest tribute to be paid to the Graduating Class was given by the Headmaster when he stated that he had 'felt more comfortable with this year's Grade 13 than with any other.' The faculty echoes this feeling and would like to add that it is the measure of a great School such as Ridley, that every graduating Class seems better than the one before. May it always be so.

NAN CASSELS, 1891 - 1980

In one of his letters John Keats wrote of his belief in "the truth of the heart's affections." Some people's lives are characterized by the steadfastness of their affections; and Nan Cassels was one of them. She was unafraid to proclaim her loyalties and these were constant throughout her life. Her family, her friends, her school, her country: these were all blessed by her unfaltering devotion. She brought life to occasions by her humour, vivacity and warmth. She was as engaging and endearing to young people meeting her for the first time as she was to friends of long standing. "The truth of the heart's affections" was at the very centre of her life.

The late Nan and Laddie Cassels

In particular, Ridley College has been blessed almost throughout its entire history by its intimate association with the life of Nan. She could be fairly described as the first child of Ridley, since she was born in 1891, the daughter of the young founding Headmaster and his wife. Glimpses of her happy childhood peep out of the pages of the Ridley History including a charming photograph of Nan attending classes in 1904 in the Lower School. Early on she identified herself with the singing tradition of Ridley and this delighted her throughout her life. She completed her senior high school years at Havergal College in Toronto, the sister foundation of Ridley.

Like so many young Ridleians, she answered the patriotic call of the First World War and served as a nurse in a converted school at Folkestone in Southern England where the casualties were brought home from the Western Front. Her marriage to Laddie Cassels, one of the outstanding leaders and athletes of the school before the War, was a wonderfully appropriate union of two great Ridleians. Throughout the years the two of them expressed their continuing love for the school by acts of generosity, initiative, and service; and presumably there was less discussion than in any other household about the appropriate school for their son to attend! Laddie subsequently served with distinction and devotion as Chairman of the Board of Governors of Ridley College. Until very late in her life Nan continued to attend Ridley occasions at the School or in Toronto. "The truth of her heart's affections" was never more manifest than during these final occasions.

We give thanks to God for the blessing of Nan's presence among us.

Lower School Notes

April, 1980 brought the beginning of the final term of the School year — a time for rejoicing since, regardless of failure or success, depression or elation, the end was in sight. Ten weeks and the long, hot summer would arrive and with it — freedom.

Only ten weeks — how did we accomplish so much in such a short time? And why did such a short time seem so long?

April brought marching, each tribe striving for perfection before Church Parade, the practice run before Inspection Day. May brought an evening of one act plays, cricket, track and field, tennis, R.O.M. day, squash and tennis tournament and swimming championships preliminaries. Our sympathies lay with one distraught youth who complained: "But, sir, I'm down for play rehearsal, swimming, cricket, marching and squash at 1:45. Where do I go?"

Despite the pressures of so many activities, success was with us — 1st, 2nd, and 4th Cricket split their matches and 3rd team won all but one. Tennis swept all comers, except in the Tournament. R. O. M. day, under the direction of Mr. Mike Hazell, was a wild success, raising over $500.00 for the Royal Ontario Museum by means of slave markets, Roman Walls, games, 'grubbies' and a draw for Emperor for the Day.

June brought Sports Day and Fathers and Sons Cricket — now the end was in sight. Examinations followed close behind with commendable results: 46% of the School achieving 2nd class honours or better (66% plus). This year, also, 89% of Grade 9 intend to continue in the Upper School, compared to 81% last year.

The year was over but the excitement was just beginning. As the boys moved out, the wreckers moved in, gutting most of the second and third floors of the main building in preparation for renovation. This will provide an improved use of space; on the third floor will be a six bed infirmary, an enlarged and more efficient sewing room and a two-bedroom apartment for the Nurse/Matron; on the second floor will be an enlarged Masters' study and a two bedroom staff apartment. In addition, the Reference Library is being refurbished, thanks to a donation from the Toronto Branch of the Women's Guild.

We wish to extend our thanks to Mr. John S. Guest, the ex-Headmaster of the Lower School, for the donation of a new prize, the John S. Guest Prize for Academic Achievement. Too, we thank the St. Catharines Branch of the Women's Guild for the gift of a gas barbecue — Sunday night hot-dogs will never be the same.

Yes, the Lower School is alive and well!

Alumni Reunion Week End

Last year saw the expansion of the Reunion Week End. The object of this increase in the number of reunions is to have a complete five year reunion programme. When this is in full operation each Class will have a reunion every five years with special emphasis on the 10th, 25th and 50th reunion years.

This year the classes of 1930, 1940, 1945, 1955, 1960, 1965, 1970 and 1975 will hold reunions. Your Class Agents are advising you of the details of your reunions.

The programme for the Week End is highlighted in the advertisement on the inside front cover of this issue. You will note that the dinner at the School is on Friday night and the individual Class reunion parties are being held on Saturday evening following the Football game.

All Association members are welcome to attend all the functions at the School. Do not hesitate to return to the School because your year is not having a reunion. You are always most welcome.

Due to increased mailing costs this will be the only notification you will receive about the Week End if you are not a member of a reunion class. Make a note of the dates on your calendar, and if you wish to attend the Friday night dinner or the Saturday luncheon, please fill in the return card on the back cover of Tiger and mail it to Sam Heaman.

All of us at Ridley will look forward to a visit from you in October.

Music Department CODA

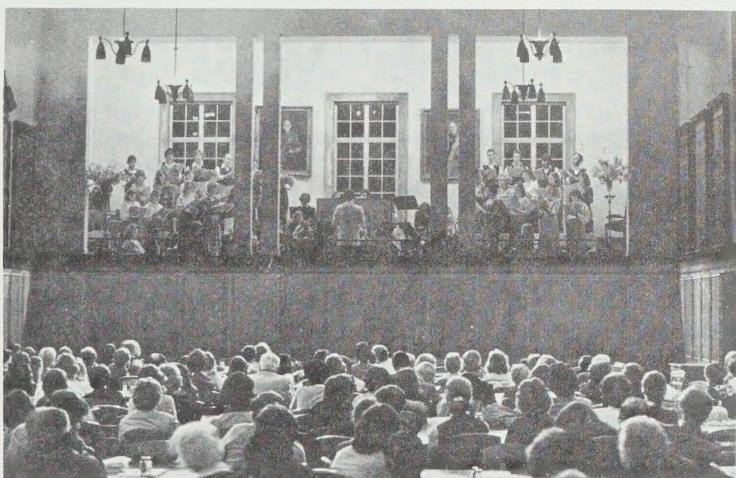

I was delighted to be asked by Sam Heaman to review and comment on my 8 years as Director of Music at Ridley. As I sit and muse in mid-July on one of those typically humid days in St. Catharines, prior to heading off to Scotland, I fondly remember all that Ridley has meant to me. Permit me to recall some of the landmarks (though not necessarily in order) of where music has come at the point of my departure.

Without doubt, the establishment of the Performing Arts Centre (formally the Assembly Hall) in the heart of the School, in 1978, serves as a reminder that music has 'come of age' at Ridley. Of course, this does not mean that it was a cultural desert in former years, but rather it is a statement that music is important at Ridley and deserves recognition along with the Academics and Sports for which Ridley is renowned. Back in 1972, music was offered as an Academic Credit for Grades

10-12 and apart from the already existing Chapel Choir and Cadet Band, there was no practical music-making such as orchestras, stage bands and instrumental ensembles so typical of many schools. This soon changed — Music became a credit with a strong practical bias for Grades 9-12 inclusive and the Marching Band absorbed these 'new' musicians and it diversified into the Band we know today. The Chapel Choir continued in its role of leading the School in worship, but expanded in size and repertoire and from this we have seen the evolution of The Ridley Singers (to be mentioned later) and Vocal ensembles. Music became more respected amongst the student body as the barriers were broken down and the musical elite and the fresh amateur were encouraged to perform to the best of their ability.

I have often been asked what my philosophy of music in education would be. It is simply this: — to involve as many students as possible in the musical life of the school, as participants or as appreciative listeners and to develop talent to the highest degree. To this end Musicals were revived — notably Gilbert & Sullivan operettas, Oliver, Noye's Fludde, etc. The latter two productions involved both Upper and Lower School students and in all cases the orchestra was primarily of Ridley students. The number of students taking instrumental tuition more than doubled since just about every conceivable instrumental tuition was offered by a highly qualified and gifted visiting Music Staff.

Another area of importance to me was to improve School/City relations and this could most easily be accomplished through culture. Ridley possesses some fine facilities and it is right that these should be shared. Brock University and the Niagara Symphony Association have regularly staged concerts at Ridley and conversely Ridley students have been able to take part in concerts in St. Catharines and surrounding areas. A major landmark was Verdi's masterpiece "Requiem" which was performed at Ridley and Brock by a combined choir of 300 singers accompanied by the Niagara Symphony Orchestra. This was a huge undertaking and marked Ridley's 90th year in St. Catharines. Sadly the Ridley performance drew little response from Ridleians and somewhat marred what was one of the most momentous musical occasions in Ridley's history. (see Acta Ridleiana 1979).

A development of the last two years has been the student lunchtime concerts. Normally held on a Thursday once a month, it gives an opportunity for students to perform at various levels of competence. I stress that this is entirely voluntary and student organized. Five years ago it was inconceivable that this activity might exist but audiences have increased enormously and it is because friends of the performers feel an obligation to support their peers.

Through thorough planning of a musical programme each year it has been possible to combine students and professionals in a variety of concerts. We have heard famous pianists, Brass ensembles, Canadian Opera and more, running alongside our more modest efforts at the School. One important result of this series has been the birth of The Ridley Singers. This group of approximately 30 singers combines the cream of the student singers with members of staff or friends of the School. This year we entered the CBC Radio competition for Amateur Choirs and while we did not proceed to the finals, we nevertheless got a high commendation for a most musical performance. This group will continue with slight changes of personnel but it is most certainly a group of which the School can be proud.

None of the aforementioned events or developments in Ridley's musical history could have been achieved without the full cooperation, backing and encouragement of a Headmaster who like myself, fervently believes in the importance of music in education. I leave a thriving department in good hands, but one which must continue to change to suit new tastes in its purposes of providing musical experiences for the student body.

One final thought — and plea! Here at Ridley there is a glorious opportunity to make music. Good facilities are one thing but you need the bodies to implement it. Ridley ought to encourage musicians to come to the School through offering Music Scholarships which will ensure a strong musical future for the School. Ridley could offer something with which no other school in its league could compete.

I will continue to follow, with interest, Ridley's musical advancement and I appreciate having had the opportunity to serve here for the past 8 years. They have been exciting, eventful and above all, fun.

from England in 1966. David came to Canada and to the Lower School on the invitation of Peter Partridge, then the Music Master, and has enjoyed the place and his work ever since.

His first teaching experience was at Culham College, Oxford, after three years in the Merchant Navy and another two with the Intelligence Service of the British Army. David became the Housemaster of Leonard House in 1968, met Connie, the Lower School nurse, and married in 1969. He became Assistant to the Headmaster in 1976. David, Connie and their two children Lisa and Mark reside now in the house facing Ridley Road but very much attached to the Lower School building.

David currently teaches English and French. Over the years he has also taught Art and Drama. He is active in many areas of the School's life as are so many of the Ridley faculty. He has done ACTA, the school year-book, photography and rifle shooting with the boys and has been the driving force behind the large musical productions at the School such as 'Pinafore,' 'Pirates of Penzance,' 'Oliver' and 'Noyes Fludde' in recent years. He has also coached his share of sports including Soccer, Basketball and Cricket. However his first love is the Swimming team where scores of boys have undergone the rigorous training required for record times and almost countless team victories.

Relieving the Headmaster during the month of July has become one of David's summer rituals. This relief continues during the year as well as his job outside the classroom involves him in establishing time tables and the maintenance of daily routines.

Over the years the Assistant Headmaster has seen a much freer atmosphere develop in the Lower School as more and more options both academic and sporting have become available. A strong believer in what he calls a 'structured free environment,' David would like to encourage an even broader set of learning experiences be made available to Lower School students, in addition to those that the classroom offers. Students he feels, generally respond well to additional educational challenges and only a shortage of time and facilities prevent these from being developed even more fully.

David is active in the local Press Theatre group and in his garden when time permits. What is left of the summer sees the Cosgrove family off on camping expeditions across the country.

Received

$140,090

The preliminary year end figures show that Annual Giving this year has handsomely surpassed the target set last summer. To date $140,090 has been donated. We initiated our new Class year system for Alumni and Grade system for Current Parents last year. As a result the Annual Giving programme became a direct mail oriented campaign rather than the Telethon campaign of previous years. With this complete change in approach and the problems inherent in a new programme the Financial Support Committee of the Board of Governors did not wish to set too high a target the first year.

The results of the campaign prove that the faith of the Committee in this new approach was well warranted.

The Financial Support Committee wishes to take this opportunity to thank all Group Captains, Class Agents, Grade Agents and their Associates for their time and effort that made the campaign a success. A special thank you for all of you who gave so generously.

We wish to particularly make mention of the great increase in donors and contributions from the United States and from Great Britain.

1980-81 Target — $165,000

An ambitious target has been projected for the coming year. It has been set after serious consideration of the needs of the School. It can and will be met.

All that is needed is greater participation. Those of you who have not given must realize that Ridley needs and deserves your support. For those of you who have contributed so generously in the past please continue your efforts to help us meet this new target.

Cobwebs of Antiquity (11)

The Second War and After (1940 - 1949)

Ridley moved slowly into war. True, an Old Boy had a narrow escape from the 'Athenia' when she was sunk by a U-boat early in September, 1939, but it was not until over a year later that the first deaths of Old Boys in service were announced in the Chapel. The pace soon quickened. By 1945 eighty Old Boys of Ridley had given their lives and over 1,100 had served in the armed forces.

By many people in Canada the first year of hostilities was loosely referred to as the 'phoney war.' It took time for the country as a whole to react to the fall of France, the evacuation at Dunkerque and the beginning of the Battle of Britain.

It was not until 1943 that the casualty lists of Old Boys became real and personal to every boy at Ridley. Actually, over half the Old Boys who died in service, did so in 1944-1945.

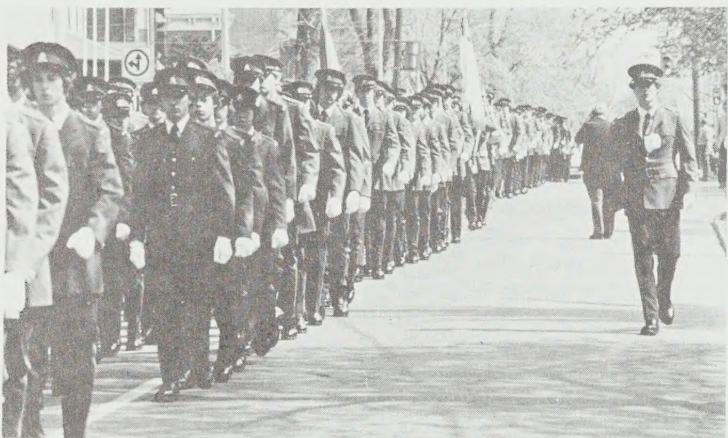

War brought little hardship to the School but gradually each boy came to recognize that even he was part of Canada's travail. He had his food ration book — so many coupons for each month. There was National Registration — he had to have his identity card always with him when he left the School grounds. Gasoline was rationed and unnecessary travel was discouraged by Government edict. By 1943 the Civil Defence Organization had set up occasional Air Raid precaution drills. These required all buildings to be completely blacked out. Every person on the campus had to go to a basement shelter in one of the Houses, there to remain until the all clear was sounded — generally for an hour or more.

As during the First Great War, the Cadet Corps was looked on with particular enthusiasm, for again some knowledge of military drill was valuable to a man when he joined up. Again, too, each June the great majority of the graduating class enlisted in one of the services. Some joined the Officers' Training Course at a university, preparatory to going active at the end of their first year.

The School, 'per se' thrived. The overall enrollment increased from 250 to 343, due in part to the addition of a number of evacuee 'Guests of Canada' from England. A great problem for the Headmaster was the loss to the Services of experienced members of the teaching staff and the difficulty of finding adequate replacements. During the war years there was a turnover of some sixteen masters.

Under the coaching of Dr. Griffith, the Football team won five consecutive Little Big Four Championships (1940-1944). They won every game played. The Cricket XI managed to be tie-champions in 1940 and 1941. In the following year S.A.C.

dropped out of cricket and no championship was declared. Then Ridley won three in succession, but they did not do so again until 1959.

Several of these winters provided steady natural ice and enthusiasm for Hockey at all levels reached a new pitch. In 1946 games were played against each of the other Little Big Four schools for the first time in one season.

The facilities of the new gymnasium resulted in much improved activity in Swimming, Squash, Gymnastics and Basketball. In 1940, the Swimming team, coached by Al Staples, began to hold meets with outside teams and two years later Little Big Four championships began. Ridley won the first one, then four in succession in 1947-1950. Little Big Four Squash championships were first held (without S.A.C.) in 1944 under the coaching of Jack Aylott.

Kasra Khorasani and Andrew Porter co-winners of the Mason Gold Medal receiving their awards from Andrew's father, Hector McL. Porter (48).

During these years the literary standards of Acta were raised through the introduction of various awards, which later became the 'Acta Awards.' Public speaking contests increased considerably in audience participation and, more or less, formal debating burgeoned.

The relatively well equipped stage in the gymnasium presented new and greater challenges to the producers, actors and crew of the Ridley College Dramatic Society, the Glee Club and the Lower School.

In 1946 David Partridge organized the first Art Department at Ridley. Previously boys had sporadically been introduced to drawing, art appreciation and such like by certain interested teachers. Now Art became a more or less serious part of the School's curriculum.

A few years earlier School dances had fallen into limbo. In 1944 such social events were reintroduced, with Cadet uniforms and evening dresses marking the formality of the occasion.

In the same year the Cadet Corps withdrew its affiliation with the Air Force and rejoined the Army Cadet Branch. The Corps retained its blue uniforms but conformed to the latter's formations and drill. Two years later 'Cap' Iggleton retired as Cadet Instructor after winning for Ridley its second Strathcona Cup. There was an interregnum before Cap's son, Andy, took over the Corps in 1949.

Within these years two great figures in Ridley's history passed on. They were: George H. Gooderham, who had been President of the Board of Governors for thirty years and H. G. 'Rep' Williams, a member of the Staff for forty-one years and Headmaster of the Lower School from its establishment in 1897 to his retirement in 1932. Also E. G. 'Ernie' Powell, teacher of mathematics from 1900 to 1946 retired.

In May of 1945 came V.E. Day. It marked the end of hostilities for the great majority of Old Boys. There was, of course, a victory parade in town by the Cadet Corps, but for the boys, the end of war was momentarily hard to realize — for the past five years they had lived under its shadow. Now the immediate future plans of most of them became more complicated — what next? University, or business? Or simply looking around?

By the following winter plans by the Old Boys' Association were under way to build a fitting memorial for those among them who had given their lives. It was decided that this should take the form of a Memorial Hall to be constructed on the site of the old Assembly Hall at the east end of School House.

In 1949 Dr. H. C. 'Harry' Griffith resigned. He was among the first boys enrolled at Ridley, where he was a student for seven years. Later he was a member of the Staff for forty-six years, during thirty-eight of which he was, in succession, Assistant-to-the-Headmaster, Vice-Principal, Co-Principal and Headmaster (17 years).

During his last year at Ridley, Dr. Griffith presided at the laying of the corner-stone of the Memorial Hall and the R. R. Schmon Memorial Hospital.

Rev. E. J. Rose

In writing an appreciation of Jack's contribution to Ridley I am immediately struck by the diversity of his areas of expertise. We have witnessed him in many roles — the School Chaplain, Hockey coach, Major Rose of the Cadet Corps, Classroom teacher and Housemaster. I speak primarily from my association with Jack through the Chapel and as I was his cohort in the daily services.

To my mind the post of Chaplain is of paramount importance in a school with a strong Christian commitment. It is no mean task to address the School most mornings of the week in a compulsory Chapel situation (which I heartily endorse). Whilst Ridley is an Anglican Foundation, the Chaplain, nevertheless, caters to all religious denominations. To strike a balance between religious education and observance, with a certain necessary degree of 'entertainment' value is not easy! But Jack has responded to this challenge with innovative ideas and an enthusiastic approach to the relationship of the Church's teaching to the modern generation. Jack would freely admit that you don't always win, but there have been moments when the atmosphere has been electric.

On the field of battle — the Military one that is (!), Major Rose has shown leadership of a different and yet related kind. He has the military background (he was an Armed Forces Chaplain) and has steered the Cadet Corps through the post-Iggulden era with a sense of concern for the Importance of Cadets as an activity and with the pride of a soldier.

There are sides of the Rev that may not have been appreciated. He is an Artist of a high calibre, a carpenter of good repute and a respectable (?) organist — not to mention his vocal abilities in and out of Chapel.

Ten years is a long time, and yet these have been years of dedication and influence on souls that have passed through this place. You have left an impression on many, myself included, and it simply remains to wish you, your wife Jane and your family, every success in your future endeavours.

Michael S. Tansley

At the end of the summer term the Faculty and Students bade farewell to Michael Tansley who has been the Director of Music at the School for the past eight years.

During this period Michael changed the direction and the emphasis of the already established music programme at Ridley. Under his direction Music became an academic credit from grades 9 to 13. He was instrumental in creating The Ridley Singers, composed of members of the Community and Ridley Students and Faculty.

Many of the Ridley family will recall with pleasure his production of the Verdi 'Requiem' and Carl Orff's 'Carmina Burana'. As well as continuing the musical tradition in the Chapel, Michael's many accomplishments included a number of musicals such as 'Oliver', Gilbert & Sullivan productions, the establishment of the informal Thursday noon hour concerts.

He was instrumental in establishing The Performing Arts Centre (the former Assembly Hall) which contains practice areas as well as facilities for small concerts.

Michael's contribution to Music at Ridley has been extensive. We all wish him, his wife Pam and his two small daughters, well as he embarks on his new career in Scotland.

D. Trevor Davies

Although some people remain with us for only a short time the mark they leave is distinguished and memorable. Such is the case with Trevor Davies. Although he spent only three years at Ridley, both students and faculty are acutely aware that they have encountered a sincere individual who has two dominant qualities — creativity and a profound and abiding concern for the students' welfare.

Trevor's creative flair was most obvious in his great involvement in the dramatic productions of the School and his enthusiasm led to many innovations in the presentation of plays to the students, but his creativity was not restricted to the performing arts alone; it was readily evident in his classes and it enabled so many students to flourish under his guidance. More than everything else, however, Trevor sees students as independent, thinking people and is earnestly committed to their growth and development as such.

Trevor has made a lasting and valuable contribution to the Ridley community. With such dedication, the future promises many years of satisfaction and fulfilment for Trevor and his students. While we regret his departure, he carries the warm regards of the Ridley family with him.

G.C.I.B.

Terry Thomson

After spending two years at Ridley, Terry and Christine Thomson have decided to pursue their teaching careers in the Bahamas.

Terry taught in the Physical Education department and he was responsible for all Lower School classes and the occasional Upper School class. He was the first full time Lower School Physical Education master and certainly accomplished a great deal during his stay at Ridley.

Athletically, in the fall Terry helped coach the First Football team and also coached the Lower School 2nd Football team. In the winter term he coached the Upper School Gymnastics team and organized the Lower School Basketball league. The spring saw him coaching the Lower School Track team. In addition he assisted in the coaching of the Upper School Track team.

With all these responsibilities Terry had time to help many students to develop and guided them through personal fitness programmes.

Terry will have a hard time pursuing his interests in Hockey and Squash in the Bahamas. But we are sure he and Christine will enjoy their new challenge. We wish them all the best and hope they will return to the School for visits whenever possible.

Winter Term

Hockey

The 1st Hockey team coached by Mr. Keith Mawhinney and captained by Gord Moodie bettered its record of last year.
Record — Won 6 Lost 9

In the ISAA league we ended up in sixth place.

The winner of the Headmaster's Trophy was Jamie O'Brien (goal). Malcolm Ainslie won the Bunston trophy and Bob Filiatralt won the Bill Montgomery trophy for the Rookie of the year.

Swimming

Under Ridley's second senior swimming coach, Mr. Paul Lewis (Al Staples retired in 1979 - he was Ridley's first and only senior coach until 1979), the team performed well.
Record — Won 6 Lost 1

They came second to Appleby in the ISAA meet. The team captain was Andrew Asbil. The winner of the Upper Canada cup was Michael Bryden and the winner of the H. A. Staples trophy awarded to the swimmer on the First team who has shown the greatest improvement during the year was Andrew Asbil.

Basketball

After four successive years as ISAA champions a losing year was bound to occur. This year the team coached by Mr. David Gagne and captained by Ted Swabey started out by losing 5 of their first 8 games. Then they won their last 5.
Record — Won 8 Lost 5

The team finished second in the ISAA competition. A very creditable result after a poor start.

Cricket

Cricket had a new coach this year in the person of Mr. Jim Kingstone (75) who is now a member of the teaching staff in the English department of the Upper School. Ably captained by Karam Singh the team had a slow start. They lost their first four matches. However, they won all four School matches and won the ISAA championship for the first time since 1973.

At the Nottingham Regatta the Ridley Heavy Eight won their two races for the second year in succession. They won the Gelsthorpe trophy for the 500 metre sprint and the National Westminster trophy for the 2,000 metre race.

At Henley, rowing in the Ladies Plate competition for University class crews, they very creditably reached the quarter-finals where they were defeated by the Witwatersrand University crew of South Africa in a very close race by only 1/3 of a length.

Branch Meetings

(The editor apologizes for no pictures of Branch meetings in New York — camera trouble; Kitchener-Cambridge - Guelph and London/Sarnia — not present)

WESTERN VISIT

For the first time since 1976 the Headmaster and his wife Mary were able to travel through the West to attend a series of Branch meetings. Sam Heaman and his wife Libby accompanied the Bradleys.

John Burns (60) with his wife Suzanne flanked by Jim Gray (52) and his wife Gosie in Calgary

The first stop was WINNIPEG on Tuesday 18 March, where the branch chairman, Hugh McDonald (44) organized a very pleasant meeting attended by thirty or more interested Association members. The meeting was held at the lovely home of Hugh and his wife Diane and we wish to thank them both for their arrangements.

At this meeting Richard and Sam showed a series of colour slides of the School. Although not in its final form the slide presentation graphically brought the Association members up to date on the changes that have taken place at Ridley during the past few years. The perceptive and witty narrative provided by the Headmaster was very much appreciated. This slide show was repeated at most Branch meetings this year.

From Winnipeg the touring Ridleians dropped in on

Calgarians - Ross Poyntz (62), an unidentified lady (apologies from the editor), Fred Mannix (60) and Mike Carson (64)

CALGARY, where our hosts, John Burns (60) and his wife Suzanne had arranged a fine gathering at the Ranchman's Club where close to fifty Association members attended.

The next night, Thursday 20 March found the travellers at the Faculty Club of the University of Alberta in EDMONTON. Due to the efforts of the chairman, Peter Jenner (59) and Bob Brintnell's (52) wife Sharon, a very pleasant meeting was enjoyed by the thirty-five or so in attendance.

Monday evening 24 March was the date of the VANCOUVER meeting organized by Bill Marler (66) who could not attend due to an attack of influenza. Don Lorimer (52) and his wife Penny hosted the gathering at the Vancouver Club and well over forty Association members were present.

From Vancouver the Ridleians crossed the border and attended a meeting of the SAN FRANCISCO area members at the Olympic Club in San Francisco on Tuesday 25 March, hosted by the chairman, Paul Dixon (38). Although the numbers were small those attending enjoyed a pleasant gathering.

The trip ended with a successful meeting of the LOS ANGELES branch organized by Andre Galliath (62) and his wife Marion, at the Castaways Restaurant in Burbank on Monday 31 March. Over thirty attended including three current girl students who were visiting Los Angeles during the Easter holidays.

As always the trip was too short from the point of view of visiting with Association members. However, it was very encouraging to see the interest and concern of our Western members in the School. In these days of expensive travelling costs, it is not possible to visit our more distant Branches as often as we would like. Let us hope that we will see you again before too long. Thank you all for your efforts and your tremendous hospitality.

NEW YORK CITY

The New York area Association members held their annual meeting on Thursday 15 May at the Union Club. Due to the efforts of the chairman Andy Watson (65) close to fifty members attended the pre-meeting cocktail party hosted by 'T' Mandeville (40) and his charming wife, Deborah. Following cocktails the party walked down the street to the Union Club for dinner which was enlivened by a fine report on the School by the Headmaster and many questions from the floor. Mary Bradley along with Sam and Libby Heaman accompanied the Headmaster. At the meeting Peter Mandeville (38) was unanimously elected to succeed the retiring chairman, Andy Watson.

NEW ENGLAND

Saturday 26 April found Richard and Mary Bradley and Sam and Libby Heaman in Andover, Mass. to attend the New England branch meeting organized by Sam Anderson (45) and chaired by Dr. T. C. Dauphine (Past Parent). After cocktails at Sam Anderson's apartment the members strolled over to the Andover Inn for a very good dinner, the slide show and a report on the School by the Headmaster.

MONTREAL

Mr. Maurice Cooke, Dean of Residence and Housemaster of School House along with Sam and Libby Heaman represented the School at the annual Montreal Branch meeting organized by John Stevens (42), chairman and his associate, Pat Guest (65). The meeting was held at the lovely home of Hugh McCracken (40) and his wife, Joyce, on Monday 28 April. About three dozen Association members attended and enjoyed the evening to the full.

OTTAWA

Moving on to Ottawa on Tuesday 29 April the same three Ridleians attended the meeting of the Ottawa branch at the Naval Officer's Mess. The meeting was organized by the chairman Edgar Wiggs (42) and well over thirty Ridley Association members had a great time and were brought up to date on activities at the School by Mr. Maurice Cooke.

A trio photographed in Edmonton - the Headmaster, John Wilmot (61) and Ken Loder (73)

TORONTO

Our Annual Toronto dinner paid tribute to Col. Andy Iggleston, who as you all know retired from the staff last year. The meeting was again held at the Albany Club. The date (changed once, for which we apologize) was Thursday 15 May. Over one hundred and fifty enthusiastic alumni had a great time honouring Andy. Following a witty speech by the Headmaster, we all enjoyed the reminiscences of Andy. At the close of the evening an engraved wrist watch was presented to 'The Colonel'.

KITCHENER-CAMBRIDGE-GUELPH

Gord Chaplin (61) our chairman organized the branch meeting held at the Chateau Kress on Thursday 22 May. The Headmaster and Mary Bradley represented the School. Although not large the members in attendance were enthusiastic and enjoyed being brought up to date on the affairs of Ridley by the Headmaster.

Rear - Harry Goad (35), Larry Dampier (32)
Front - Frank Hillock (35) and his wife Dorilda with John Rapsey (29) and his wife Phyllis at the Vancouver meeting
